

Fond Illusions

— Art

June 26, 2017

The group show that opened on Orchard St. last week may seem disjointed, but in fact the dichotomous nature of each piece is a unifying theme in itself.

The exhibition brings together notable artists from around the world, each working in vastly different mediums— from Sophie Calle's hyper-personal writing and photographs, to Kathryn Andrews' personified steel and balloon sculpture— that have chosen alternative methods and forms of expression to determine their art, and claim their space.

Each work in the gallery is expressive of the artist and their mentality, and serves as a narrative that utilizes something unique to divulge whatever narrative they feel the need to.

Fond Illusions* will run through August 18th at Galerie Perrotin.

Photos and text by Anna Zanes

